DESCRIPTION: The medical student will have a focused, patient-centered medical home experience. This will occur in a primary care, community, and family medicine setting. The student will be part of the Care Team working with the attending family medicine physician, nurse practitioner, clinical pharmacist, patient education coordinator, behavior health worker and billing manager to gain a comprehensive understanding of the clinical practice and management skills needed to be a part of a thriving community clinic. The medical student will function as an extern, caring for their own patients during all clinical sessions. Additionally, they will participate in multiple community-based learning modules. The medical student will be required to design, complete, and present a quality improvement project.

EVALUATION: No formal written or oral tests given. Student's performance is assessed by the faculty who work with them as for their effort, proficiency and behavior. Participation during group work and in direct patient care is heavily weighted. All the staff will evaluate the individual student and the preceptor will summarize the overall performance in the student evaluation form.
